

Triangle Annual Report for the year ended 31 October 2022

David Thornley and Gill Baker have continued to edit the Triangle, alternating duties so each one edits three issues per year.

To celebrate Queen Elizabeth II's Platinum Jubilee, two of the issues were larger at 32 pages rather than the usual 24 pages.

The Editors have been able to use colour on more pages than in past years, due to the healthy state of the finances and this is a benefit helping to make sure that photos and posters sent in by contributors can be shown to best effect. The Christmas edition is no longer full colour, but again colour pages are used to enhance the content. Adverts are only colour if they happen to be on a colour page.

Printing of the Triangle is undertaken at Prontaprint in Scarborough. They continued to be supportive of the Triangle and we feel our print run is valued by them.

Content, and contributions from others has been steady during the year, and new groups being established, and proposed changes/development in the village, suggest contributions will continue to be good. Our necessary deadline for receipt of content can give some challenges, but we accept our contributors are mostly volunteers themselves.

Feedback from readers about the Triangle continues to be good and both editors feel that their efforts are appreciated by the community.

The editors would like to thank all our Triangle contributors and our advertisers for their support during the past year. As always, a special thank you goes to the editors' partners for their support during the intensive production period, and work in checking and proofing reading our editions.

Looking ahead to the coming year, it is intended to continue production of the Triangle on the same schedule. As always editors rely on receiving articles from our subscribers and readers – your support ensures the Triangle is interesting and informative. It is also hoped to have the continuing support of local advertisers, who are essential in enabling the Triangle to be sold at a very reasonable price.

Information about advertisers and the number of subscribers will be found in the report by Jo Breckon on Advertising and Distribution. However, the Triangle editors would certainly welcome additional advertisers; as well as helping to meet costs advertisements provide content and add awareness of the local services available in our communities.

It should be noted that this report covers the period from 1st November 2021 to 31st October 2022, though it has not been produced until January 2022 when the AGM is being held. Therefore, two more editions of The Triangle have been produced since the accounting year end. Nothing has arisen in relation to these editions that changes any of the foregoing content.
